The Infection Prevention and Control Service

Introducing the Team

The Infection prevention and control service

- We are a team of nurses and administrative staff who provide advice and support on all matters relating to infection prevention and control.
- The aim of the service is to prevent and reduce the burden of infections and antimicrobial resistance by providing training, support and education throughout the community.
- As a team we give specialist advice to the public, health and care professionals of community services and providers of health and care.
